

Community Adaptation Decision Making Exercise

This exercise explores the diversity in climate change impacts across different community contexts, and uses these differences to plan for future adaptation. Participants will be return to their groups of hypothetical communities which were formed earlier today. All material can be found in the Community Adaptation Decision Making Exercise folder. Within the context of all that you have heard today each Community will complete the following exercises:

1. Propose one possible long term project that you could implement in your community to adapt to potential climate impacts and specify at least one objective.
2. List the potential ministry linkages that would be needed to make this project possible.

Presentations will be made using the Community Adaptation Activity Power Point Template provided.
